In connection with the observance, Mrs Chikku Kuriakose shared her personal experiences, including the challenges she faced as a differently-abled student during her time at school, and how teachers influenced her life. Her session was highly engaging and impactful, offering students deep insight into the lived realities of persons with disabilities.

The programme created a significant positive change among the students, giving them valuable lessons and new perspectives—especially as future educators. The programme proved to be extremely informative and useful for us as teacher trainees. It provided valuable insights into how to understand and handle children with diverse needs.

We also learned effective ways to include them in the classroom and support them just like any other students. The session greatly enriched our perspective as future educators and strengthened our commitment to inclusive education.

The vote of thanks was delivered by Saandra V Senan from the Malayalam Department.
